

Coulon Urges Amateur Boxing Says It Aids Clean Living

Johnny Coulon, world's bantam weight champion for many years, who is mystifying audiences at the Oneonta theatre with his "non-fighting" act, is a firm believer in amateur boxing as an aid to self defense and clean living. When interviewed yesterday by a Star representative Johnny had the following to say concerning boxing and clean living.

"In my travels through this country and Europe I always pay a great deal of attention to the young boys and the part they take in athletics for, to my mind, health, which is produced from clean living and athletics, is the backbone of the nation. Boxing takes away any cowardliness that might be in a man or boy. The boy or man who can defend himself is never a bully.

"The man who attains the heights in any profession must be clean in each and every respect. I have never drunk or smoked in my life, and some of the greatest champions we have have can say the same thing. I believe in taking the very best care of your body. Don't destroy it. You will be sorry. If you have your health, you have everything to work on. The reason I didn't smoke was because I thought it interfered with my breathing.

"I have always been careful to get plenty of sleep and rest and I want to say that today, at the age of 33, I am in the best of condition and box almost every day. I never want to lose that, as good, fresh air and lots of exercise do away with all medicine.

"I repeat—encourage amateur boxing. We want men and not mollycoddlers. None of us like a coward, and the man who can protect himself and is master of the art of self-defense is never a coward."

Another large crowd greeted Johnny last evening. Several men tried to lift him but all failed. William Otten's strength rather worried Johnny, he admitted, but Otten was unable to budge the midjet.

ONEONTA 56; UNADILLA 33

Makes Oneonta Six Wins in League—Unadilla Wins Hard Time in First Class Game at Unadilla Last Evening.

The five of Oneonta High school held its position of undefeated leader in the Tri-County basketball league when it defeated the quintet of Unadilla High at that village last evening by a score of 56-33. Oneonta used eight men and Unadilla in turn gave six of her finest in the battle.

Both sides played a hard, fast and clean game all the way and the exhibition, as an exhibition, was very good. Unadilla has been playing not too fast this year, but Edwards, Kait and Ingals showed up well last evening and, although it is late, Unadilla has a good chance of raising her standing.

The yellow and white bearers were in the scrap from the start and looked very promising. Bush and Monahan each played but half of the game and secured six field baskets. Dille led in the scoring for the locals with 21 points to his credit. He played in a forward position and his eye, as ever, was right on the basket. Charles held down his guard position in his usual form and with McIlhenny, both playing the full session, held the Unadilla scoring to a safe figure.

PRaises Railway SERVICE OF A. E. F.

Little Known of Wonderful System Which Kept Troops and Supplies at Front

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 9.—Gen. Sir Henry Worth Thornton, president of the Canadian National Grand Trunk railway, paid tribute to the splendid work of the American railroad men in France during the World war, at the annual banquet of the Pittsburgh Traffic club last night.

"The people of the United States know little the debt they owe to the genius of their railway officers who perfected and administered the wonderful American transportation system in France," he said. "The American people may indeed be very proud of their fellow citizens who went overseas in railway service. Much has been written, and properly so, of the magnificent work of the soldiers in the trenches, the officers who commanded them; much has been said in praise of fighting generals and the anxieties they much have experienced. But I am here to say that none of those who have had even an opportunity to display their courage and their patriotism, and to perform the service they did, had it not been for the efficiency of American transportation department, which day by day kept the front supplied with food, and munition."

Regularly was this function performed that most people took it as a matter of course. But of all the outstanding feats of war there was none that excited the soul and intelligence with which the American transport department was organized; nothing has approached the unostentatious way in which it performed its work. Then, when the war was over, with a quiet dignity born of the knowledge that it had done its work well, it slipped back into the oblivion of civilian life."

More than 1,000 of the leading railroad men in the United States and Canada attended the banquet. Other speakers were Colonel James A. McCrea, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Howard Heins, a Pittsburgh manufacturer.

PRESENT BANKING LAWS AID FARMER

Producer Can Get All Credit Desired, Reports Grange Committee; Arg Against Price Fixing

Syracuse, Feb. 9.—A report of the transportation committee of the state grange favoring a resolution calling for regulation of coal prices to prevent profiteering was tabled yesterday. The committee of the national grange, pointed out that it has long been a principle of the grange to oppose price fixing in any form. Mr. Lowell had spoken earlier for the old principles of the order. He warned delegates against attempting to restrict the free action of any member in his rights to be heard in the assembly.

Because of the flood of resolutions which have been submitted, the resolutions committee had urged the resolutions to be placed in the hands of a special committee for classification. This recommendation which, if carried out, would eliminate a number of resolutions, brought the national master's warning.

A report of the committee on co-operation and trade, which was adopted, indicated that the grange is not in agreement with statements and farm organizations at Washington seeking to improve credit facilities for the farmer. The report was, briefly, that the farmer can get all the credit needed under existing banking laws.

One of the biggest statewide farm issues came up when a resolution declaring belief of the grange that farmers should not be compelled to post their lands to prohibit them to hunters and anglers was submitted, with an adverse report by the committee handling it.

Despite the adverse report of the resolution, it was carried by a considerable majority.

Science has discovered the cause of the hemorrhagic and hereditary disease, epilepsy, and it is announced from Chicago university that Prof. L. R. Dragstedt and A. R. Luchhardt have devised separate means of cure or control.

Another marvel of the day's news is revealed in the announcement that the world may look on through the cinema film as the remains of King Tutankhamen, of about 1800 B. C., are unburied in the sunlight.

In rocks and ruins geologists and archaeologists have read the story of mankind and animal-kind for millions of years. Radio transmission has outwitted the mind against miracles which do not transgress natural law. No mechanical obstacle or problem is proof against man's genius.

The only citadel which remains contemptuously oblivious of human effort is a simple and universal formula which will restrain men and nations from inflicting on one another's rights and induce them to leave one another alone for the enjoyment of peace and plenty.

What child's play, after all, is the conquest of the sky, the sea and the earth and the currents under the earth, even of the secrets of other worlds cradled in eternity as against the unfathomable darkness of man's intolerance and his passion for prey.

Increasing Prosperity.
 The labor department's statement that there is less idleness in the country than at any time in the past three years is significant as indicating advance toward prosperity. When a nation's working classes are employed, it means greater production of commodities and wider distribution of money in wages.

This statement of the labor department taken on additional significance in view of the appended item to the effect that a substantial portion of the labor now active is being utilized for construction purposes.
 This means not only increase of employment, but increase of economic wealth, actual and potential—for construction would increase housing facilities for persons and business and industry, and this in turn would add to facilities for living at reasonable cost and for expansion of business and industrial activity.—[Washington Post.]

Lincoln's Lost Speech
 Professor Believes That Bone and Sinew of Lincoln's "Lost Speech" at Bloomington Were Never Lost.
 (By the Associated Press.)
 Bloomington, Ill., Feb. 9.—That the speech which was never lost and that the bone and sinew of it were never found and never will be found, were the theories advanced by Dr. William E. Barton in an address delivered last night on "Lincoln and Liberty." Dr. Barton spoke at the State Normal college on "The Education of Abraham Lincoln" and later at the Lions' club.

He spoke of the intimate relations of Lincoln with Bloomington, and especially of the "lost speech" delivered there at the convention at which the Republican party of Illinois was organized, May 23, 1858. Dr. Barton said: "I believe that the Peoria speech must have contained the bone and sinew of the Bloomington speech which is known as Lincoln's lost speech. Such a speech a man does not create out of blue sky; it takes time to grow in him. Secondly, I believe that Whitney cured much of the spirit and some of the phraseology of the lost speech. But in the lost speech I do not believe that the lost place ever could have been a product."

"Lincoln probably tried to reproduce it a few nights later at a ratification meeting in Springfield, but there came out to that meeting only Lincoln, his partner, William H. Herndon, and an otherwise distinguished man, John Paine. Lincoln was elected chairman without opposition, and he took the chair amid what the press report prepared by Herndon, described as 'dazzling calls.' But do you suppose that Lincoln repeated his best speech to two men and a hall of otherwise empty chairs? He said just enough to get a good report in the papers. No man can deliver a great address to empty chairs."

"The reporters were so interested in Lincoln's great speech they forgot to report it."

SPECIAL CHURCH PROGRAM.

Dr. Pendleton to Give Illustrated Lecture at Main Street Baptist Church.
 A special program will be presented at the Main Street Baptist church on Sunday evening when the pastor, Rev. Dr. C. S. Pendleton, will give an illustrated lecture entitled, "Our Such is the Kingdom," or "The Child Life of the World." About seventy colored slides will feature glimpses of the children of South America, the Philippines, Japan, China, India, France and different parts of Africa.

The purpose of the lecture is to show that the burden of heathenism rests most heavily upon little children. A marked contrast is revealed between the children who have the advantage of missionary schools and those who live in homes where the gospel message has not been received. The views also show how education and religious instruction through hospitals, schools and churches give a new dawn to motherhood and childhood.

A prelude to the lecture will be given by children of the Sunday school. A chorus will sing, "Open the Door to the Children," and a number of recitations will be given concerning the children of other lands. A cordial welcome is extended to any who are interested in this phase of mission work.

FARMS GOING BACKWARD

Decrease of Cultivated Area Can Be Offset by Forestry.

Farmland is being abandoned in the east because of an increasing intensive use of the soil. This is leaving an increasingly larger area that can be used profitably for raising forest crops.

The total acreage of improved farm land between the last two census years has decreased in nineteen states and in six states the acreage has remained stationary. New England lost 32,000 farms during this period with a net decrease of over a million acres. New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey lost 43,000 farms with a net decrease of over 2,600,000 acres. Within the original forest belts the net acreage under agriculture is shrinking, which means the area of potential timber land is increasing.

We will have within the next generation 470,000,000 acres in the United States largely without a crop unless timber culture gives it employment. This is an economic and sociological factor of first importance. No country can attain its best industrial development with nearly one-fourth of its entire area non-productive, in fact, it might easily bankrupt the country. No civilization can progress with such a tremendous health and business resource in idleness.

The people have been deprived of the use per capita of nearly one-half the quantity of timber they formerly consumed. In 1906 we were using timber at the rate of 516 board feet per capita a year; today the amount has been reduced to about 316 board feet per capita. In other words, we have fallen below the per capita consumption of 1870.

This restriction in the use of wood and its products is partially revealed in the shortage of homes, high rents, increased cost of paper, transportation, implements of all kinds where wood is concerned from the utensils of farming and sports down to the baby's toy.

Our 470,000,000 acres of forest land could produce practically all the timber we need if it were growing forests under scientific management. The remnant of virgin timber left on this acreage will be cut during the next twenty-five years. The forests that should have been planted twenty-five to fifty years ago have scarcely been started. Plant trees. New York State College of Forestry, Syracuse University.

STRUCK BY PASSENGER TRAIN

J. M. Henderson Sustains Broken Leg When Caught in Which He and Companions Were Riding to Struck by Train at V. & D. Crossing.

James M. Henderson of 434 Main street, this city, sustained a broken leg and ribs and bruises on various parts of his body, and the Misses Ruth of Kortright, and Hazel Moscript, 26, when the Ford coupe in which they were riding was struck by the D. & H. local passenger train from Albany at the V. & D. crossing, crossing at about 4:45 o'clock last evening. The car was almost completely demolished and parts of it were hurled forty feet by the force of the impact. That the three escaped with their lives is a matter of wonderment to the several persons who witnessed the accident.

The young ladies had arrived on the U. & D. evening train, Miss Doonan to visit at the home of Ray Bouton, 5 Hickory street, and Miss Moscript to visit Mr. Henderson, her uncle. Mr. Henderson had gone to the station for them and was returning with them when the accident happened. The job and made strenuous endeavors to stop the car by waving his lantern. The young ladies stated following the accident that they did not see the approaching train but observed the flagman waving his lantern. They thought, however, as Mr. Henderson, who was driving, probably did also, that the flagman was waving them on. The locomotive, going at a good rate of speed, struck the rear of the coupe, knocked the top off the chassis and tossed the latter fully forty feet. A "Stop-Look-Listen" sign which was in the path of the machine was broken off close to the ground. The girls landed under the remnants of the top, which was smashed flat, falling by the side of the track. Mr. Henderson was tossed into the ditch by the side of the track.

An automobile which was near the scene of the accident conveyed Mr. Henderson to the Fox Memorial hospital, where it was found that he had sustained a fracture of the left leg and a dislocation of the right leg and on the back of the head and numerous bumps and bruises. It is not thought that he is injured internally. Miss Doonan suffered a bruise on her left leg while Miss Moscript's right elbow was slightly hurt. They were taken to the Bouton home on Hickory street.

Fools and Devils. They are trouble breeders and the newspapers grab at and tell of their misdeeds. Let's find something brighter and better. Look up the word "Astronaut" and you will find that it means living and acting for the good of others. Now put on your thinking cap and you'll find that I have 12 good, able and experienced men, who have been unselfishly doing this in Oneonta, for 34 years and with no undue gain to themselves. Paste the grand word in your hat and send me $6 for January and $5 every month thereafter, and see how safely I'll roll it at six per cent compound interest, which compounded annually amounts to 14 per cent and hand you $1,000.00 to help you get a home or farm, send a boy or girl to college, or for old age, sickness or loss of a job. Keep on your thinking cap long enough to find out how I have safely done it up to several million dollars for little fellows and how I am now doing it to the tune of five million more. Make it $11, and $10, and I'll hand you $2,000.00. You can use the money and have brightness, instead of gloom. I'm the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan association. adv. 11.

Pleads for Industrial Good Will as Solution of Economic Ills

Masterly Address of Chamber of Commerce Dinner by Lieut. Governor George R. Lunn; Urges Citizens to Support Health, Education and Recreation Plans of Chamber; Paul S. Collier Urges Intelligent Study of Facts in Solving Problems; Chamber Gives Satisfactory Accounting of Stewardship.

While endorsing in its entirety the activities of the Oneonta Chamber of Commerce and commending it for the accomplishment of the past year, Lieut. Governor George R. Lunn, four times mayor of his home city of Schenectady, and easily one of the closest students of economic and social problems of the day, in the course of his admirable address at the annual dinner of the local chamber at the Elks' home last night, laid special emphasis upon the program for the social well-being of the community and the community life of the city. He stressed as most important the health, education and recreation of its boys and girls as the future citizens of the community. He declared that the non-penditure of money where these interests are involved is costly and unwise, declaring that the true citizen of any city is interested in seeing that the child has a square deal.

Governor Lunn spoke for over an hour and he was given closest attention by the nearly 150 people present and the hearty applause accorded at the end evidenced that his sentiments met with quite general, if not unanimous approval among his hearers. He referred in the latter part of his address to economic problems in a fearless but thoughtful manner, to which reference will later be made.

Paul S. Collier, former secretary of the Oneonta Chamber, now secretary of the Eastern States Lumber Dealers' association, was given cordial greeting also. He pleaded for consideration of the viewpoint of the other fellow and urged all to study and know the facts, from which he declared a reasonably fair and just deduction could be made that should be acceptable to all. He spoke effectively and well and all were pleased to again greet and see him.

An excellent dinner was well served by Mr. Petersen for the gathering and during its serving there was music by Marshall's orchestra and community singing with Jerry Wilson leading. Preceding the address of President Briggs a solo was rendered by Byron Chesebro, who is always heard with keenest satisfaction by Oneonta audiences, and so enjoyable was the original number that an encore was demanded, he giving Liddle in fine voice.

President Briggs' address was brief but pointed and effective. He said that the aim of the Chamber had been during the past year to be good finishers and he expressed a conviction that the year's record justified the assertion that they had reached the goal set. He commended the individual directors for their devotion and faithfulness to duties assigned. He also commended highly the services of Secretary Hicks. He hoped that the coming year would witness the inception of a suitable memorial to the chamber and its work.

Ralph W. Henderson, treasurer, presented his report for the year. It shows a cash balance on hand at the commencement of the year of $256.95 and total receipts for the year of $8,646.33. The total disbursements have been $8,589.95, leaving a balance on hand of $56.33. This coupled with dues for 1933 paid makes the actual cash balance now $749.

Secretary Everett Hicks made brief report of the year.

BUYS BROAD STREET REALTY

B. G. Packer Assures Permanent Home for His Undertaking Business by Purchase of Eastern Half of Camp Block.

B. G. Packer has purchased of Seymour C. Camp the eastern half of the Camp block at 15-17 Broad street. It was announced yesterday. Mr. Packer makes the purchase to assure a permanent location for his undertaking rooms, which he has made an attractive and up-to-date as any in this section of the state. The consideration was not announced, although it is understood to involve a considerable sum.

Possession will be given on March 1. Mr. Packer plans to renovate thoroughly the two upper floors of the block and to equip them with every modern convenience, including electricity to the high class of tenants will be attracted.

By the purchase Mr. Packer has secured a permanent home for his undertaking rooms and furniture shop. When he leased the quarters some time ago Mr. Packer spent considerable money and time in equipping the place and in securing a modern establishment. On the ground floor are located his mortuary chapel and office. In the basement are work-rooms and rooms for the storage of his large stock of caskets, burial suits and undertaking supplies. A rear entrance is a great convenience. The block is a substantial three-story brick structure built by Mr. Camp following the fire which gutted that section 25 or more years ago. Mr. Packer is to be congratulated upon securing such a valuable piece of realty.

Report of the year's activities, in which he referred to the high spots only of the work. He emphasized seeing and decided that there is every reason to expect that ere long a serious business will be presented to the citizens for their revision and approval. The position for repaving Main street was accepted by the chamber while much has been done to advertise Oneonta. The city through the chamber entertained two large conventions during the year. It has maintained the public rest room which is of great value to visitors.

New Directors Chosen. Lewis F. Rose, chairman of the election committee, reported the following: Directors for three years, B. C. Lunn, C. J. Beaman, C. C. Hemmick, H. W. Lee and H. C. Gorman; director for two years, A. W. Achler, director for one year, J. J. Bookhout.

KILLED IN D. & H. TRAIN

CHARLES D. BALLEW, CAR CHECKER, KID, RUN OVER BY PASSENGER ENGINE STRUCK BY TOWER.

Probably Failed to Hear Locomotive Whistle of Passenger Engine Struck by Tower.

Charles Daniel Ballew, 48, a D. & H. car checker residing at 2 Valleyview street, was run over and instantly killed by a switch engine near the Main street viaduct at 3:45 yesterday morning. The engine and the car of coal which it was hauling passed over the body, which was cut in two.

Mr. Ballew was carrying mail from the yard office to the passenger station. The switch engine, in charge of Conductor Walter Tammert and Engineer John Tanning, was backing out of the engine track with a car of coal. Ballew had reached a point about a hundred feet south of the Main street viaduct when the locomotive hit him. He is quite deaf and undoubtedly failed to hear the engine coming behind him. The engineer did not see him and it was not until the train had passed over his body that a trainman, Robert Slavin, discovered what had happened.

The body was viewed by Coroner N. W. Getman, who directed its removal to the undertaking rooms of L. J. Bookhout.

Charles Member of D. & H. T. Charles Daniel Ballew was born August 12, 1885, in Sanford, Irons county, and was a son of Daniel and Mary (Cornell) Ballew. His early years were passed in that place, but practically all his manhood was spent in Oneonta. For over 40 years he was an employee of the Delaware & Hudson company in train and yard service. At the time of his death he held the position of yard clerk.

The surviving members of his family are five children—Douglas D. Ballew of Oneonta, Mrs. Hubert D. Page of Rhinebeck, Mrs. Wallace Mahon of Oneonta, Miss Agnes Ballew, a teacher at Huntington, L. I., and Charles W. Ballew of Bainbridge. He leaves also six sisters—Miss Mary Ballew and Mrs. Nettie Clark of Oneonta, Mrs. Bertha Graves of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Frances Alart of Port Jervis, Mrs. John J. Jones of Deposit and Mrs. Etta Wharton of Binghamton. His wife, who was Sarah Jane Warner of Oneonta, and to whom he was married 33 years ago, died in 1921.

Mr. Ballew was a member of the Main Street Baptist church with which he had been affiliated for many years. He was also a member of the Order of Railway Conductors, of the Loyal Order of Moose, of Canton David Willet, of the Oneonta Masonic lodge, and of the D. & H. Veterans' association. He was one of the surviving charter members of D. H. Lodge, No. 1, of the Order of Railway Trainmen, which was organized in Oneonta. He was a consistent Christian, a good friend and neighbor, a loving husband and father and a conscientious, much-respected man. He had many friends who will grieve with the family in its unexpected and tragic bereavement.

The funeral services will be held at 2:45 p. m. on Sunday, February 11, at Mr. Ballew's late home, 2 Valleyview street.

FROM THE HIGH SCHOOL

Lincoln Day Exercises Held Yesterday Afternoon—Junior Reception Tonight—Cost of "Daddy Long Legs" 4 hours.

At the high school assembly held yesterday afternoon, a program for Lincoln's birthday was given. There were two very good senior compositions given by Carl Hanes, "A Biographical Sketch of the Early Life of Lincoln," and by Kenneth Hammond, "The Later Life of Lincoln." "O Captain, My Captain" (Whitman), and "Abraham Lincoln" (Bryant), were poetical readings by Olive Rose and Marjorie Reager, respectively. There was the usual school singing.

The junior class gives their annual reception to the faculty, alumni and other classes in the gymnasium this evening from eight o'clock until eleven. It has given two most enjoyable receptions and this evening, with Smith's orchestra furnishing the music, hope to even add to their reputation.

Monday there will be no school, it being Lincoln's birthday. Neither will there be a session of night school, which is postponed until Tuesday evening.

TO EXPAND ALBANY YARDS

Delaware & Hudson and New York Central Railroads Planning $5,000,000 Expansion Project for Yards at Tenth Station.

The New York Central and Delaware and Hudson railroads are to start work in the spring on the $5,000,000 project of doubling the size of the passenger train yard at the Tenth station—adding twelve tracks—and bringing the Delaware and Hudson and West Shore trains through Church street, over Broadway and into the new part of the station on overland tracks.

The information was obtained today from reliable sources in the railroad office, although officials of the roads concerned professed belief that the long deferred plan of completing the original water front improvement from Madison avenue north, is not to be taken up right away.

At the office of the city superintendent of public buildings, James M. Noon, it was said that yesterday a representative of the New York Central filed plans for a temporary roadhouse along the waterfront above Albany, Troy boat landing, and it was expected that additional plans would be filed soon.

The operation of passenger trains on the New York Central has been hampered by lack of space, officials declaring that the condition has existed since 1912. With twelve new tracks, they believe they would have plenty of room and also afford a better terminal for the Delaware and Hudson and West Shore trains, which now come and go from the end of the "subway."

Original plans for the "overhead tracking" of Broadway and the enlargement along Quay street were filed years ago, but construction work was halted by the war.

Funeral of Banner J. Marble.

There was a large attendance of neighbors and friends, including a considerable delegation from the Schenectady Masonic lodge, present at the services for the late Banner J. Marble, which were held yesterday at Maryland. There was a brief prayer service by Rev. N. B. Ripley of Milford at the home of Charles Smallin at 1:30, followed by the funeral at 2 o'clock at the Christ church in Maryland. The sermon was a comforting and impressive address, based on several selections from Ecclesiastes, and in it Mr. Ripley paid fitting tribute to one who had long resided in Maryland township and who was a venerable landmark in the community.

Prayer was offered by Rev. L. A. Duran of Schenectady, by whom a solo was also sung. The services concluded with the Masonic ritual, given by M. J. Beman as acting master, after which the body was placed in the vault at Schenectady for later interment in the cemetery at that place. There were many beautiful floral remembrances, including one from the Schenectady Masonic lodge, members of which acted as bearers.

Among those from a distance present at the service were Mrs. Cella Seaver, Miss Anna Belle Seaver, Miss Elma Seaver and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Smallin of Oneonta, Mr. and Mrs. Merton Garlock of Portlandville and Mr. and Mrs. Brill Hooker of Westville.

PLEAD FOR INDUSTRIAL GOOD WILL AS SOLUTION OF ECONOMIC ILLS

was good and an approximate fair adjustment is arrived at.

Capital or labor may by the exercise of power unjustly gain what appears to be a victory, but there are certain fundamental economic conditions which none can overthrow and these will assert themselves and what may appear a victory is but the inception of destruction and decay.

The speaker decried the formation of a farm bloc or any other class striving to gain an advantage at the expense of others, though they may be forced to do so by an injustice that has been done them. This does not help in the long run. Power to do does not give the right to do, nor does it help the cause in which it is enlisted. They are laying the foundation, not on the solid rock but upon the sands, which the first storm will sweep away.

Whoever seeks special advantage is breeding trouble in later years. The extremist, be he the ultra conservative or the radical, is as blind as a bat. All will be at little avail without the stability of the nation being founded upon sound economic and moral principles. Where is the value of your stocks and bonds, if there be not enough patriotic citizens who prize the welfare of society and the common good above mere personal gain or profit?

Whoever would see wisely will see that whether he be actuated by the broad standard of the public good or of enlightened selfishness, will come to understand that our lives are so interwoven with that of others that we cannot wrong others without suffering the penalty of our misdeeds.

When the leaders of both classes and all classes come to understand that true prosperity is founded upon industrial good will and consideration of the other fellow and that it can never be brought about by industrial war, we shall come near to a solution of our economic problems. He who refuses to open his eyes to these fundamental economic truths and laws and recognizes that they ultimately will control, and that we all owe a responsibility to God and our fellows, is an enemy of society and of the state. We must recognize them as such and be willing to cast them from positions of trust and responsibility.

In closing the speaker plead with all his matchless eloquence and force for firm adherence on the part of Oneontans who would be loyal to their city, to the state and the nation, to the principle of industrial good will asserting his supreme confidence in the good sense and fairness of American sons and their confidence with him in the principle of a human brotherhood in this moral universe of God, and the solution, with this faith of our fathers restored, of the social and economic problems that now threaten the peace and security of the nation.

PAYMENTS TO ONEONTA

ON THE DEBT OF SERVICE OWED BY ITS CITIZENS MADE BY ONEONTA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DURING 1922

TO THE CITY whose existence and activity make possible the existence and activity of each citizen's business or profession, and whose prosperity makes for the prosperity of each citizen, a debt of service is owed by all who share in the benefits it bestows.

Mindful of this obligation, 400 men and women are banded together in Oneonta Chamber of Commerce to make payments on this debt of service they owe to Oneonta.

They realize that the most progress in civic advancement can be obtained from concerted action along a definite Program of Work, which each may help formulate.

They realize that this militant citizenship (which is expressed by the exchange of ideas and opinions on community problems, voluntary committee service, and the payment of $25.00 annual dues) should embrace not only 400 citizens but all other citizens who can afford the financial obligation and believe enough in Oneonta to work for its betterment.

They realize that by thus working to promote the welfare of Oneonta they benefit and promote the welfare of every business and profession in Oneonta—their own included—and make Oneonta a better place to live in.

Fifty activities were undertaken by the Chamber of Commerce in 1922 to advance Oneonta's best interests. Some were big things, others were small things, but they all tended toward the common goal of a greater Oneonta—better, bigger, and busier in all its aspects. Measured as a whole, they represent a vast contribution to the city's betterment, a considerable payment on the debt of service owed Oneonta by its citizens.

Fifty Milestones of the Road That Leads Oneonta Onward

Added to Forty Achievements of 1921—Greater Support Means Greater Things in 1923.

Two-thirds of the three-year membership period, on which the Chamber of Commerce embarked upon its reorganization in 1921, have now elapsed. Forty achievements were recorded in 1921, fifty in 1922. More and greater things may be achieved the ensuing year if greater support is accorded the Chamber, by those who should join with the 400 members in faithful service and support, and by those of the 400 who have been delinquent in fulfilling their pledge of prompt payment of dues.

Of the 50 payments recorded below to the debt of service to Oneonta, the need of 40 of them was rendered in the Program of Work formulated by the members, and of 10 in the recognition by the Board of Directors of needs which arose during the year. The term "Paid By" refers to those who acted for the Chamber of Commerce in making the achievement possible by conscientious committee service.

The Payment Made

Held four Forum meetings with out-of-town speakers, three conferences with Common Council to confer with two consulting engineers and see a Zoning film. Referendum of membership polled 2 to 1 vote in favor of Zoning. Recommended to Common Council to engage one of two leading consulting engineers, whose detailed estimates were obtained and submitted. Action held up temporarily due to city's finances.

Circulated petition among property owners for repaving Main Street between Luther and Third Streets, and obtained required number of signatures. Petition presented to Board of Public Works. Expect work started in spring to lay a bitulithic pavement, also new storm water sewers needed, etc.

Obtained sentiment of property owners and held Forum meeting to gain public sentiment about relief of traffic congestion at time of repaving by: (1) Substituting a bus line for the East End trolley and removing tracks from Main Street, or (2) Making Main Street in the business section four feet wider by cutting two feet off each sidewalk, or three feet off the South sidewalk and one foot off the North sidewalk to equalize the widths. Both property owners and general sentiment seem to favor removal of the trolley, but East End residents are apparently opposed. Trolley company making traffic check before announcing its attitude. Plank continued to 1923 Program of Work.

Co-operation given existing industries through Manufacturers' Association. Conferred with officers of Oneonta Iron Works, Inc., and advised plan for increase of capital. Made several tours of industrial plants to become more fully acquainted with details of local manufacturing and display interest in them.

Brought availability of Bauer Chemical plant to attention of numerous manufacturers and negotiations are pending with several firms. Possibility of cold storage plant being investigated with prospect.

Maintained Public Rest Room at own expense with co-operation of Salvation Army. Encouraged its use as a bus terminal. Matron's report shows that 100 men, women and children use waiting room and toilet facilities daily, 30,000 each year. Patronized mostly by out-of-town shoppers.

Secured extension of express delivery and call service on Chestnut and adjacent streets to the city line, on East Street, and for Walling Heights section, following circulation of petitions among residents and conferences with American Railway Express Company officials.

Put elimination of Pony Farm crossing, by means of a change in the state highway route, on the program of State Highway Commission. Following conferences with commission in Albany, Binghamton, and Oneonta.

Assured by county officials that Franklin Road would be reconstructed as a state-aid highway in its proper order on county highway program, probably in 1924. Secured needed repairs to Franklin Road by town highway superintendent.

The Means of Greater Service to Oneonta

We submit this report with just pride in our stewardship of the organization's activities, confident that we have fully discharged the trust placed in us by the membership who elected us to direct, with their co-operation and support, the payment of their debt of service to Oneonta during 1922.

But we are fully as confident that Oneonta Chamber of Commerce has not reached the maximum height of its service to the community, which can be attained in 1923 by—

1. Every member taking a deeper personal interest in the advancement of Oneonta's welfare, by proposing definite needs of the community for inclusion in the 1923 Program of Work, by maintaining the enthusiasm necessary to get these things done through attendance at meetings and conscientious service when called upon, and by keeping the organization's finances prepared for committee work expenditures—and the organization's energies devoted entirely to constructive endeavor—through prompt payment of dues when due.

2. Every member now delinquent in fulfilling his financial pledge squaring himself with the organization and rendering better co-operation and support in 1923.

3. Every citizen not already a member, who can afford an investment of $25 in Oneonta's betterment, and who believes in concerted action to promote definite things for the community's welfare, joining the Chamber of Commerce.

4. All other citizens lending their moral support to the work being undertaken for Oneonta, through the expression of their approval, the suggestion of possible activities, and attendance at public meetings when interested.
